

Bomb. Training Center - A.P.O. 525 To Postmaster, N.Y.C. Wednesday. May 12, 1943 Hello Jolks, and Ma in particular! being as how Sunday past was "Mother's Ray" and I could do nothing about it. - Oh well, - my thoughts were there you know - so maybe by next time things will be some can be it least in communications. Did you have a nice day? From the way fellows here tell me the mail goes - maybe I should take this offertunity to express my greetings for your 40th anniversary! - The one on the 24th of June! - But no. - Twent. Ill want until my next letter or so and them I'll know I'll have something to write about, so there! -I get into town pretty often here - a big city in these parts but still withing. We are here to have our plane worked on, supposed by- but they are so over-rushed we just sit. - In lots of ways its fun - cause we know it will be our last "vacation" for some time but its gitting sorta tiresome - even for me! - Think we would all feel better with something to do. I'm afraid I'd never get used to living in this part of the world. - I get so tickled over the people and customs - but guess I'd soon get to the point of not noticing most things. The women around here (native women - not the currenas that sought refuge hue, I mean all wear bundles of clothing of you can't help but wonder how they get about) and a real of over their faces - Really it's more than a reil - their whole face is covered up - except for a feet hole for one eye-!- Housthylyte you see this big hundle of sheets walking around the steet - and when you get up tout allyon causee is a hole about an inch in chamitre with part of the one eye showing! - It almost gives you the muge to meak up out of their range of vision (which can't be much) - get real close to em and peak right back three the same little hole and say." Boo at the same time! and then again, - sometimes, - you see some of the women without the veil- and you've never seen such ugly mugs in all your life. - Hollywood certainly has done a good jot of glamorizing nothing! Don't know just why or when the veil should be worn. weed to think the rumanied one did- and the married ones didn't but don't be believe that's so. - Ih. another thing - among the natures you very seldom see a mant his wife walking along together - therefe is about one step behind and to one side - and quiet! (Maybe they have something them?) and now we come to the more risque type of north african end ye gods, what a mess! - you should see one. you sorte swallow real hard and say in a stime voice, "stay down, stomache" - Yep. they're that bad. - To start with - their hair - a little on the kinky side, is usually died- and how each head of hair manages to have sor many different variations of color is something Til never know! and their faces - are usually made up, with what a man, - and a layman at that - would take to be followipaste! -Are do have a few who are refugeed that are right fietly, the, and if course our own surses who speak our own language. and shess the way we like to see in. They are strickly glamous girls over her - and lots of fur-He have a red crossbldg. in fact several-but our just for the officers and nurses (who are all officers, too). - I to the first of any of the organizations were un into, - and believe me they've doing a good job of it. and a mighty welcome sight. They sewe us sandwiches - coffee, fruit juices, - have a reading room with a fair library, and usually arrange for some sort of mass intertainment at nights. The dollars ? used to begundge sometiming - Twish had been more now! you will like my really first encounter, in a bearings way with the frush hu! - (I can guess at some of the senther French - but the shoken word - well, you might just as well save your breath!) I bought a couple of open nick khakishists from the Tuatemaster at one of run stops - hust being regular enlisted man's stuff. - they needed shoulder straps "before an officer could wear them. - Hell .- my sewing isn't quite up to that .-I can repair - but not make over . - as must proto have somere who styles hinself a tailor - I thought I could have it done sometime when I got settled - but the further we go on - the rougher it gets so says Frankii - "I'd better have a go with thise Frenchmen and get this stuff sewed!" - Sooooo --- yeateday I make my way to town with my shirts under my arm. I find a sign that looks like it says tailor - take a deep freath - ofen the door + walk in! Sure mough it's a tailor shop. Ity to tell them what Swantin English - and they tried to guess in Freich. - Oh, - a great time! after awhile - Egot smart - took off my jacket - pointed to the straps on the shift I had on and motioned at the shoulders of the other shits! - Well - I think they got the idea or at least thepe so. For after boking at the shirts a nimete - they unfolded one - motions to the shirt tail - made motions as to cutting some of it off and then notioned back at the shoulders! - I took this to means they would there. I'm to collect them tomorrow at 5 oclock - so I'm sorta niterested to see the outcome. - Maybe I will have my shoulders down where my shirt tails were! - after all - the most can lose is two shirts - and I'm having that much fun out of it! How are the luxuries at home? We get everything at a French Sarvison, as we sometimes do one that used to belong to the Vichy France that we had to take by force tele we usually have nice now beds - and by now - Smean now were to the slate - (They have no springs) - we fill a mathess cover with straw - spread our blankets - and there we are If we are staying afore four places (I mean a place where we've, the U.S. - has thown up a cauch) our quarters are usually right on the ground in our bedding rolls. - Our lights, if any are candles- and of course our meals are served a la mess-kit". They are small items, tho. - as long as we can keep well, we should worry. I course, sometimes we fuss - fume about everything - but the old saying is that that is what makes a happy army. - Maybe, I'm not talking, myself, Haven't found out anything further about an A.P.O. -other than what Two to you in my V mail lette. From what others have told me, tho, - we have all given up any real expectations of receiving mail for some time to come. I saved the letters I got while at morrison Field-Those forwarded from avan Park. - Houallywhen one is on the move so much, and got as many letters as I did, well. there's maternative 'cept to disting them as you get them - but I shad a sneaking suspicion when I saved these last ones- that letters reread are better than none at all. . Savent had to resort to that (rereading yet.) but I have them just in case! have a hard time trying to think of something to say that wont be consored out; - so maybe, if you don't mind the "Cook's Jour" - I'll be seeing you again - or talking toyou again. - The been looking all over town for some to mich Knacks to buy a send home to you. - but all you see is junk. prepared especially for the americans, and the frices are 2 or 3 times what they ahould be. In lots of ways they are taking all sorts of advantages of the american Soldier who in most cases, don't stop to realize these people over here are seeing more money than they even knew existed before. The well-why wony? - Bye for now and I'l write some more after you've recomperated from this particular diquesion!

P.S. - Longot to tell you - John Freeman - one of the old gang from Basic & Lubbock - is still with me! - He are the only two of the whole bunch who are still together. He is the one who called me when I awas home last becember if you will remember. - as I started to say - His father is statemed here, in the Navy - so you can imagine the time his having! or on the wage of it - I don't know - who works for the F.B. I. in Hashington he said he is going to write her quing he your address so that she will have some Cleaner Hage, - 649 E capital - her mame is Elever Cleaner Hage, - 649 E capital - her might wer call, you will know who she is . - Her home is in Rochester n. of and at fresent rooms somewhere on East Capital St. Aus
